WAS BIG SUCCESS

First Fall Fair Held in Grand Forks This Week Surpasses All Expectations--1001 Entries Made in the Various Sections.

The first Fall Fair held in Grand Forks may emphatically be pronounced a big success. There has been much talk in recent years of the advisability of getting up an exhibition here, and when, a few months ago, things began to take a practical shape some were hopeful and some, perhaps, doubtful as to the outcome. It is safe to say that the result has been an eye-opener to half the people in the town itself. The crowds who thronged the rink on Tuesday and Wednesday were evidently delighted with the whole thing, and it should not require so much effort another year to secure a generous co-operation on everyone's part to make the second fair a greater success even than the first.

At 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday, H. C. Korman, president of the Agricultural Association, the directors, Ernest Miller, M. P. P., J. R. Jackson, M. P. P. of Midway, and other visitors, took their stand in the gallery at the east end of the rink, the president calling on Martin Burrell, M. P. to officially open the Fair. Mr. Burrell remarked that the task assigned to him was a most pleasant one, associated as he had been for many years with the development of the town and valley. After a few words in reference to the efforts of those who, like Mr. Oilpin and Mr. Covert, had planted orchards in the pioneer days of the district, the speaker dwelt on the marked change which had taken place during the last decade, and more especially within the past few years. He had been connected in various ways with fruit exhibitions in eastern and western Canada for a score of years and ventured to state that no first effort on the part of any town or district could excel what had been accomplished here. He would go further and say that throughout the length and breadth of the country it would be an extremely difficult matter to find a collection of fruit of the same size showing such a high standard in the matter of color, uniformity and quality generally. Not only in the horticultural section but in all other departments excellence was the order of the day. Mr. Burrell concluded by a hearty wish that every visitor would thoroughly enjoy himself or herself and then declared the Fair open.

What were the most noticeable features of the exhibition? Well, we suppose it is a question of where the individual's tastes lie who has to answer the question. Certainly a fruit man would say the fruit, and he would have much reason for his contentions. Both Mr. Appleton, of Kootenay Lake, who was kind enough to do part of the judging in Mr. Middleton's absence, and Mr. Middleton himself, who turned up on the second day, were most emphatic in their praise of the quality of the horticultural display. As a striking demonstration of what practical orchard work can produce in this valley Mr. Middleton said the exhibits were simply remarkable, and he was unstinted in his praise of the color and quality of the fruit as a whole. Robt. Lawson of the west end of the valley secured many prizes and practically all the medals and special prizes. He had a wonderful lot of boxes, which for color and packing, could hardly be excelled in the province, and deserves great credit for his display. From the other end of the valley Mr. Burrell was the largest exhibitor, and many other growers of the valley contributed fine fruit. The $100 prize for the best district display fell to the Grand Forks district which had recently won the cup at Nelson. They were run hard, however, by the same keen competitor, viz: the West Arm of Kootenay lake, whose display in charge of Mr. Appleton was a credit to any country.

But if the fruit men were inclined to claim precedence the poultry fanciers had as much reason to do the same. T. A. F. Mackintosh, the energetic president of the Poultry Association, was amply rewarded for the efforts he and his fellow officers had made, and it must have been a great satisfaction to hear the government judge, Mr. Edwards of Victoria, pronounce the exhibit of feathered stock an excellent one in every respect, and the best he had seen in the interior.

Amongst the local industries represented was that of cement structures, Messrs. Lutley and Galipeau having a very tasty little building erected in the rink of cement blocks. Another noticeable feature was the excellent display of furniture manufactured by R. C. McCutcheon. The mineral section was well in evidence, there being an attractive display of blister copper from the Granby, many samples of the various ores of the district, including some valuable and interesting specimens from the Fife mines.

The exhibitors who contributed vegetables had good reason to be proud of that special section. Both in quantity and quality the vari-

NATIONAL APPLE SHOW

Two Cars of Fruit from Grand Forks District Will Be Exhibited

The fair this week has had one good effect on the people of the valley already. It has been demonstrated that first class fruit is being raised in the valley, and has also put new life into the citizens of the district inasmuch that two car loads of apples will be shipped from Grand Forks about the 24th or 25th of this month to the National Apple Show, which opens in Vancouver on the 31st inst. Robt. Lawson, who carried off so many prizes at the fair, will exhibit a car load at the big show, and the board of trade has commissioned Messrs. Honsberger and Collins to secure another car of fruit to ship to the coast for the exhibition. In the latter car will be included the Grand Forks district display which will consist of boxed and plate apples, as well as a quantity of other fruit to be used for decorative purposes. A number of entries will also be made in the five and ten box exhibits.

With two such men as J. D. Honsberger and H. W. Collins looking after the gathering, shipping and exhibiting of the fruit, there is no question but what this district will get all that is due it when the awards are handed out in Vancouver the first of next month.

ous classes were well represented. Nobody needs to be told that we had one of the driest seasons on record and in face of the conditions the samples of potatoes shown were noticeably good and much the same can be said of the onions and other vegetables. With the establishment of a general irrigation system the exhibit of vegetables which could be turned out in this valley would be nothing short of wonderful.

Space will not permit detailed reference to all features of the fair, though mention must be made of the comprehensive and exceptionally fine floral exhibit of Frache Bros., the excellent displays of home-made preserve, candies and bread, the paintings, drawings and photographs, and especially the fancy work which in point of quantity and quality were particularly good.

One thing which contributed to the general enjoyment was the recently formed Grand Forks band. It was generally conceded that M. C. Davidson and the members of the organization deserved great credit for their excellent playing.

Shortly after 10 p. m. on Wednesday as the crowds were leaving the directors of the Agricultural Association and a number of prominent citizens assembled in the directors' room for the purpose of making an interesting presentation to Mr. Edwards, the government poultry expert. Martin Burrell, M. P., on behalf of the president and directors of the Poultry Association, made the presentation, which consisted of a walking stick made from the wood of the first Jefferies apple tree planted by W. H. Covert in the early days of the valley's history, the original tree having been brought in on horseback over the mountain trails. Mr. Burrell expressed the general appreciation of Mr. Edwards' courtesy, and expert knowledge, and said that the educational value of his work would undoubtedly greatly help the local industry. Mr. Edwards made a suitable reply and paid a high compliment to the exhibits of poultry in this district.

A vote of thanks was carried to Mr. Appleton for his kindness in assisting in the fruit judging. Mr. Middleton was called on for a few remarks, and referred in a strongly eulogistic way to the high character of the fruit exhibits, especially remarkable for the splendid coloring and quality, and in his opinion second to none in the province.

Mr. Burrell in a few additional words of congratulation to the president and directors for their energy in making the first fair such a brilliant success, finished by calling for three cheers which were heartily given and the meeting dispersed homewards.

Following is a list of the prize winners in the different sections:

BOX APPLES
Five best boxes commercially packed apples—First, R. Lawson; second, J. D. Honsberger.

PLATE APPLES
Yellow Newton—First, M. Burrell; second, J. D. Honsberger.

RHEUMATISM CURED

Zam-Buk will give you relief!

When you have any deep-seated pain in the joints, the back, the wrists or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand and rub it in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm" is very great. It kills pain and removes stiffness. Mrs. Frances Wyatt, of 26 Guy Avenue, Montreal, says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very stiff case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered long and acutely from rheumatism, and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure. I began applying this balm whenever I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt any of the stiffness. The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains, driving them completely out, and I am now quite cured."

Notes of the Fair

The rubber man certainly drew good crowds to his show in the exhibition building, which naturally came back.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Holy Trinity church done a thriving business in their refreshment booth in the exhibition building during the two days of the fair.

The dance given by the association in the opera house on Tuesday evening was well patronized. The music was furnished by the Phoenix orchestra of three pieces.

The band certainly showed up in good form during the fair, the music being very much appreciated by the citizens and visitors alike. For an organization which had only five practices, it could not be beat.

One of the first things to catch the eye on entering the poultry section of the show was the pen of Golden Pheasants owned by C. Y. Meggett. This pen consisted of a cock and two hens, and was much admired by all visitors to this part of the fair.

Three hundred and eighteen entries in the poultry class, and six hundred and eighty-three in the other sections of the fair is a pretty good showing for the first years work. Let the good work go on, and see if this number cannot be materially increased next season.

One thing very noticeable here during the fair was the decoration, or rather the absence of decoration, of our city establishments. Let us hope that next year we will take a little more pride and make our places of business present more of a holiday attire than they did during the past week.

R. McCutcheon's display of home made mission furniture, and the fern stand in his exhibit made from the wood of the first Jefferies apple tree planted in the district some twenty-five years ago, was the subject of much favorable comment by those taking in the sights in the exhibition building.

The Ladies Aid of Knox Presbyterian church held their annual chicken dinner on Tuesday and Wednesday at noon, and served supper during both evenings. The Miners Union hall, which was used by the ladies as a dining room, was very prettily decorated, and a large number took advantage of the excellent meals served there.

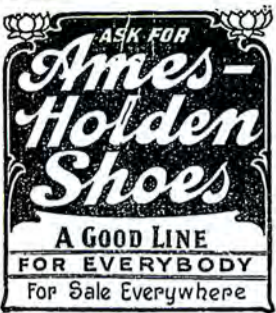

As a result of the fine showing of birds made by A. D. Morrison in the poultry section of the fair, that gentleman has received orders for a large number of pens of his best stock, the most of which were purchased for parties at the coast. Although Mr. Morrison went into the business as a hobby, he has found that it pays big returns for the time and money expended in the raising of first class birds.

One thing was noticed in the exhibition building which could have been improved upon and that was in the plate display section. The long table was not large enough to give sufficient space to each plate in order to properly show up the fruit, but no doubt the entries in this section far surpassed the expectations of the arrangements committee when figuring out the space allotment for the different sections.

The cider making demonstration conducted by that veteran fruit grower, W. H. Covert, just outside the exhibition building, was witnessed by everyone. Mr. Covert showed all the different stages in the manufacture of cider from the time the apples were washed until the beverage was placed before the consumer. There is considerable labor in connection with the business, but something of this kind should be a good way to dispose of all apples which are not of a grade sufficiently good to be packed.

The exhibit made by the poultry department of the province of British Columbia attracted much attention from those interested in the raising and marketing of fowls. Different grains used for feeding and purposes were shown, the proper amount to feed, and the production of such food was also shown. The proper method in dressing fowl for market was demonstrated, a large number of birds being on exhibition, all ready to be placed in the pan. Several useful tables, giving the proper feed for all kinds of fowl during the different seasons, also many valuable pointers on how to make the most of your hens, were printed on banners and hung around the exhibit. The dressed fowl were sold by auction at the conclusion of the fair.

The mineral display was certainly fine, as was also the display of copper matte made at the Granby smelter. Ores were exhibited from the Fife mines, Granby mines, Eagle, Monto Carlo, American Eagle, Gold Axe and Centre Eagle mines, Hardy mountain; Nelson group, Copper Claim, Leader, Maple Leaf, Franklin, Gloucester, Silver Queen, McKinley and Banner mines, Franklin camp; Buttercup camp, North Fork district; Victor and Juditha mines, McKinley camp; Alpha and mineral Hill mines, Gloucester camp; Volcanic and Shick Shock mine, Brown's camp; Lone Star mine near Daaville, Wash., and ore and concentrates from the Sunset mine in the Similkameen, the concentrates running 46 per cent copper. This display was nicely arranged along the north side of the building, and was admired by all visitors to the building, the exhibits of the Granby Co. and those of the Fife mines, drawing the most attention.

Mr. Appleton, in charge of the district exhibit from the West Arm of Kootenay lake, made his first visit to Grand Forks this week. He was loud in his praise of the Kettle Valley as a fruit growing district, and was surprised that the wonderful resources of this section were not being made known to better advantage in the other provinces of the Dominion. "Your land is practically all cleared," said Mr. Appleton, "and that is one big advantage you have in this district over other fruit sections of this province, and I understand your prices for fruit lands are very low when compared with other places, where the advantages for the successful cultivation of fruit are not nearly so good as they are in the Kettle Valley. Somebody will discover this valley shortly and buy up all the available land, then you people will wake up and realize what you have been passing up for the last few years. With your land ready to put a plow into, and a soil and climate such as you have here, it don't seem hardly possible to me that Grand Forks and the Kettle Valley is not better known on the outside than what it is."

Rush Work on K. V. Lines

Construction is in full swing on the Kettle Valley railway at this end. With all the camps gradually completing their complement of men, with the big steam shovels working, with the location line complete and every other preliminary detail successfully disposed of, the contractors are settling down for a good steady grind.

The pay roll for the past month aggregated over $50,000 and that most of this money was left in town is evidenced by returns from the banking and dispatching institutions. Next month's pay roll will be more than double.

Now that work at the Merritt end is well under way the officials are devoting their attention to the Penticton and Midway ends so that in a very short time construction will be in full swing from end to end.

It is proposed to build a tunnel several miles long from Penticton creek so as to avoid heavy grades and the tunnel will be known as the Penticton-Wilkinson tunnel.—Merritt News.

Dandruff Germs Must Go

In Canada the dandruff germ must go. The war of extermination has been declared. The battle has begun and already thousands of intelligent Canadians have permanently rid themselves of this filthiness.

Today it is no more necessary for a man to have dandruff in his hair than to have tartar on his teeth. Dandruff can never be cured until the small, aggravating and indomitable dandruff germ is conquered and destroyed. And millions of dandruff germs have been destroyed, thanks to the great scientist and dermatologist who gave to the world Parisian Sage, the only real dandruff cure and hair grower the world has ever known.

T. W. Edwards of Victoria, provincial government judge of the poultry exhibit in this city for the fall fair, on Wednesday, was interviewed by the Gazette. Mr. Edwards, who by the way is an expert poultryman, and one qualified to speak with authority, said: "When informed that I was to judge the poultry exhibit at Grand Forks first fair I thought it would be only a couple of hours work, and easy work at that, but imagine my surprise upon reaching the poultry section to find 318 exhibits to pass my judgment upon. The number of birds exhibited pretty nearly knocked me cold, but that was nothing compared to the work which I had to do in determining the best in each class. It took me over twelve hours to complete my work, and I may say that I never had a harder job in this line of business in my life. Not only was the number of entries good but the quality of the stock far surpassed my expectations. The poultry association here were at first afraid that they could not make good in their first show, but let me tell you that they not only did this, but had on exhibition some of the finest birds it has been my pleasure to see anywhere. The department as a whole is the best I have seen in the province, and I am surprised that you have put off holding a poultry show as long as you have, considering the quality of your stock in this district. No wonder that birds from this section carried off several of the best prizes at the recent poultry show at the coast, —you should have sent more entries down. Possibly next year, now that you know what you have got in this section, you will be disposed to enter more birds. It will always be a pleasure for me to come to the fairs in this city, especially if the poultry end of the fair maintains its present high standard, which I have every reason to believe will be improved, if anything."

TRACK SPORTS

Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Witness Some Of the Best Horse Races that Has Ever Been Held on the Grounds

The program of sports held at the race track grounds of the Agricultural association on Wednesday afternoon was all that could be desired. Rain threatened during the races but held off, and the crowd who visited the track were well repaid, the rain of the previous few days only putting the track in good condition for fast, clean sport.

The first event was the green trot or pace. There were four entries in this event, Dan K, owned by Dr. Kingston; Bowright, owned by I. Ballew; Mookery, owned by J. A. McCallum, and Sunday M., owned by W. Sanda. In this race Dr. Kingston's big horse proved too much for the others, he winning easily the first and third heats. Mr. Ballew took second money, and J. A. McCallum third. Time 1.29

The big harness event of the day, however, was the free for all trot or pace. In this race three entries had been made, but at the last minute Sam Baker, owner of Buster Brown, withdrew his horse, thus leaving the field to Ed. Davis of this city with LaCarrista, and Chas. Bubar of Midway, with Solo. This was certainly a very pretty race. In the first heat Solo took the lead, which he held to the head of the stretch, when LaCarrista made a driving finish, leading under the wire by half a length. In the second heat LaCarrista broke, and was beaten by Solo by a little over a head. The third heat was the best of all, and showed what LaCarrista could do. Solo took the lead and maintained it to the head of the stretch, when Andy Lance, who was driving this horse repeated the performance of the first heat, coming up from about four lengths in the rear and crossing under the wire in the lead of Solo. Time 2.29.

A farewell dance to four of the city's most popular young ladies, the Misses Ethel and Edna Curran, and Olive and Madalina Stendal. These young people came to Grand Forks some eight years ago, and have grown up with the community, so as a fitting opportunity to show the esteem in which they were held, the Tillicum Club and the Bachelor Girls' Club joined hands in giving the above dance. The affair was an informal one and of the many invitations issued, about 40 couples were in attendance.

From 9 p. m. till 3 o'clock in the morning, with a brief interval at 12.30 for some light refreshment, the dance was kept going, not a dull moment was allowed to intervene, all helping as one to make the evening a grand success, and how far their efforts were rewarded can only be fully appreciated by those participating—in fact it is a long time since such a harmonious crowd of young and old people have assembled together in this city. Much credit is due the instigators of the dance, whose untiring efforts were duly rewarded.

Of the music too much praise cannot be showered on the musicians, Messrs. Werner and McKay of Phoenix, whose reputation is well known to the dancing community of Grand Forks, suffice to say that their efforts to please were duly acknowledged by the repeated encores, to which they liberally responded.

The Misses Curran left for their new home at Westminster on Monday, and took with them many wishes of success and happiness from this city in which they were so well known and highly respected.

Baraca Banquet

Thursday evening, September 29th, was the occasion of a complimentary banquet being given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church to the men who have been invited to consider the advisability of organizing a Baraca bible class. After justices had been done to the excellent repast provided by the ladies, E. C. Henniger, the chairman of the evening, introduced those who took part in the program. Addresses were given by J. C. Taylor, W. Frakes and Rev. H. W. Wright. Music was provided by B. R. Allen, J. W. Rutherford, W. Farmer and F. J. Miller.

Sunday, Oct. 2nd, a meeting was called to effect the necessary organization, when it was decided to hold the charter members list open till the end of the current year. Temporary officers were appointed for the next three months as follows: President, W. Frakes; secretary, Hugh Mills; treasurer, S. K. McArthur; teacher, Rev. H. W. Wright. Captains of sides to solicit new members, L. A. Snyder, E. Mills, S. K. McArthur.
